

THE NEW POSTAGE LAW.—The Postmaster General has published for the information of Postmasters and the public, his decision on a large number of questions arising under the new postage law. Postage on bound books, and printed matter, except newspapers and periodicals, published at intervals not exceeding three months, and sent from the office of publication to actual subscribers, is required to be pre-paid. Postage is to be charged by the route by which letters, &c., are sent, and they are to be sent, unless otherwise directed by the sender, by the quickest route. Subscribers to periodicals to obtain the benefit of pre-payment must pay a quarter's postage in advance. Weekly papers only are entitled to circulate free of postage in the counties where published, and this privilege is limited to the counties in which the papers are printed.

"Exchange papers" may be sent to and from Canada free of charge. Pamphlets and periodicals, not exceeding 16 ounces in weight, may be interchanged free of postage by the publishers, the privilege being limited to a single copy. Bills for the subscription to such publications, and receipts for payment, may be enclosed free of charge in addition to that of the periodical. Instructions are also given on various other points, likely to be of less frequent occurrence than those here mentioned.

A very interesting discovery has recently been made in Egypt. M. Mariette, a young French soldier, who was despatched on a scientific mission to Egypt, has discovered the exact site of the ancient city of Memphis, which has heretofore been a matter of doubt. After careful search, he has found a great quantity of Egyptian and Grecian remains, buried under a deposit of sand, varying from six to forty feet in depth. Among other objects he recognized the Serapeum, a monument described by Strabo. The avenue leading to it was filled with a large number of statues and sphinxes, some of which contained inscriptions. The drawings of these remains, sent by M. Mariette to Paris, attracted much attention, and it is understood that funds will be furnished him for the further prosecution of his researches.

Jenny Lind is once more with us, but remains strictly private at her house in Brooklyn. She arrived on Sunday morning, and hearing of the arrival of the Atlantic, despite her fatigue, at once ordered a carriage, and was driven to the dock, at the foot of Canal street, which she reached just as the vessel was hauling in. As soon as the gang way plank was fixed, she hastened on board to welcome her friend Captain West, whose attention to her during her voyage to this country, seems to have made a deep impression upon her. The meeting, we understand, was most cordial.

The rumors of Miss Lind's marriage to Signor Belletti is entirely unfounded; that gentleman, together with Messrs. Benedict and Goldschmidt, leaves for Europe to-morrow, in the Atlantic. It is the intention of Miss Lind to remain in this country during the autumn; but we regret to learn that she has determined not to give any more concerts. [N. Y. Mirror.]

THE FOURTH OF JULY IN LONDON.—For the first time since the declaration of American Independence, the anniversary of that event was celebrated on the 4th inst., in London, with almost as much honor as in New York. Mr. G. Peabody, of Baltimore, had issued cards of invitation to meet the United States Minister and Mrs. Lawrence at a fete which he gave that evening on the occasion, and about 700 or 800 persons were to be present, including all the American families now in London, and a large proportion of the nobility and public persons in England, by whom the idea had been received with the greatest satisfaction. The Duke of Wellington, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Lord Mayor, etc., are among those who attended. There was to be a concert, ball and supper, and the affair promised to be one of the grandest of the season, worthy not only of what it celebrates, but of the meeting of the nation in the year of the Exhibition.

WOMEN'S CONVENTION.—At this assemblage, in Akron, Ohio, some singular things were said and some quite sensible ones. A young lady spoke as follows:—

"For her own part, she loved man, individually and collectively, better than woman, and so, she was sure, did every one of her sex, if they, like her, would utter their real sentiments. She was more anxious for man's elevation and improvement than for woman's, and so was every true woman."

POSTAGE TO CALIFORNIA.—Different statements are going the rounds of the papers in regard to the rates of postage to California under the new law. The following are the rates now payable upon letters and papers: Letters pre-paid, 6 cents; unpaid, ten cents; transient newspapers, 5 cents an ounce. The former rates were for letters, 40 cents, and for papers 4 cents each. [N. O. Bulletin.]

We are happy to learn from a private letter by the last steamer that the Hon. D. D. Barnard, our Minister to Russia, is in good health, and exceedingly popular as a diplomatist. Our correspondent writes that "he adorns his position and is winning golden opinions from all who meet him." [N. Y. Mirror.]

The barque Chicago, a Canadian vessel, bound from Chicago to Quebec, foundered on the 26th ult., in a gale, a few miles this side of Death's Door. The crew were saved in a boat. The Chicago was laden with 299 tons of Turk's Island salt, for Chicago.

The Waukegan Chronicle states that about one hundred tons of ship knees are ready at that place for transportation to the East.

The same business can be carried on profitably from this port. We have the best oak in the State.

Mr. E. F. Morton advertises in the Cincinnati Gazette the reward of one thousand dollars to any person who will give a rational explanation to the phenomena called "spirit rappings," independent of the hypothesis that they are made by departed spirits.

Gen. Houston and his family have been on a visit to Galveston—the first in five years. He made them a speech, and they entertained him and his family at a ball. The greetings and courtesies on both sides seemed warm and sincere.

AARON BURR.—About the year 1795 Col. Burr was owner of nearly one fourth of a block fronting Nassau, Cedar, and Liberty streets, and Broadway. He was an eminent lawyer, with an extensive practice. I was informed by one of the profession that his practice at one period was worth ten thousand dollars a year. I used frequently to sit on juries in the old City Hall (now the site of the Custom house) when Hamilton and Burr were the opposing counsel. They were both acute lawyers and eloquent speakers. A remarkable incident took place one day. They were trying the validity of a will. Hamilton, having the will in his hand, happened to hold it between the window and his eyes. He rose, and prayed the court to stay the proceedings, and, handing the will up to the judge, (I think it was Brookholst Livingston,) remarked: "If the court please, there is a witness from Heaven that will set this matter at rest. If the court please, hold the instrument so as to look through the paper. The water-mark is dated five years after the will was signed. The testator could not make a will five years after he was dead." Of course a verdict for the defendant was given at once.

In the year 1800 Col. Burr was elected to the office of Vice-President of the United States. On the 11th of July, 1804, he retired from political life. The fatal termination of the duel with Hamilton, and the verdict of a "wilful murder" rendered by the coroner's jury, caused him to absent himself from this part of the country. He traveled through the Southern and Western States, for the purpose of getting up an expedition against Mexico, for which he was tried for high treason. He then fled to England, where his papers were seized, and himself thrown into prison. He was liberated soon after, traveled in France and Germany, and returned to New York in 1812. Being lightly esteemed by his fellow-citizens, the effort was unsuccessful, and he soon fell into decay in mind, body and estate. Matthew L. Davis, his last solitary friend, stuck to him closer than a brother, and had him lodged in a solitary hut, with a lonely window, on a desert sand-bank in the wilds of Staten Island. Here, through the bounty of Mr. Davis, he lived for eighteen months; and here on the night of the 14th of September, 1836, died Aaron Burr, in the eighty-first year of his age, with not a friend to close his eyes, or wipe the dew-drops of death from his brow. Washington, Adams, Jay and Hamilton died surrounded by weeping friends, and their graves were bedewed by the tears of a continent. "He that honoreth me I will honor; he that despiseth me shall be lightly esteemed," saith the book whose Author is divine. Burr was buried at Trenton, New Jersey.

[Laurie Todd, in the Home Journal.]

A London letter of the 4th ult., mentions that the jurors of the great exhibition had met that week to decide upon the award of medals to exhibitors. The distribution of the prizes will not be made till after the exhibition is closed, and then it is probable that the queen will present them. The writer learns from a good source that the American section will obtain more prizes than many other foreign nations; notwithstanding we are incessantly taunted by John Bull about our meagre show, twenty-three medals have already been awarded to American exhibitors.

SCARLET FEVER.—The following prescription for the Scarlet Fever is very simple, if efficacious, and the writer in the Newark Sentinel says he has always found it to have a beneficial tendency, no matter how aggravated the symptoms may have been. It should be resorted to immediately if possible; "put into a middling size tea cup, one tea spoonful of the best Cayenne pepper, one tea spoonful of salt, one table spoonful of vinegar, and fill the cup with boiling water. Stir it well, and when cold let the patient swallow every half hour a tea spoonful of the clear infusion. In order to keep it clear, do not leave the spoon in the mixture. It will be found to relieve the soreness of the throat, and throw out the eruption. It is moreover an excellent prescription for an ordinary sore throat."
